Students Pick Erection Of Highway Billboards As Project For Year

Erection of highway billboards advertising Wartburg was selected as 1952-53 student body project in balloting at convo Thursday morning.

With 239 voting on five proposed projects—black-out curtains for the gym, repaired floor in gym, student scrapbook, a room in the new student union, spotlights for Luther hill and signs outside of the campus—the signs received the latter plan.

"Selection of funds will start in about a week," said Chet Nerem, business manager, adding that students start saving now, the plank will be left blank for the solicitation contact them. The more we give the larger the signs that can be created," stated Nerem.

Breakdown of the balloting showed that the billboard project finished second with 98 votes. Perhaps student interest was greatest, determining a women's dorm room and a chair for Luther hall.

Voting on a prayer chapel as a possible future project on campus generated a lot of heat and student body tokens a chapel. The chapel showed the most student interest on their ballots, two voting it emphatic "yes" 161 voting for the project, and one indicating "definitely yes."

Trumpet Spots Open

Both old and new students interested in working on the TRUMPET during the second semester should attend a staff meeting to be held Monday, at 7:15 p.m. in room 209, Luther hall. Openings are available in both writing and advertising sphere.

Dig Deep—Advertising Pays!

After being tossed about among students, administration and civic groups for years, highway billboards advertising Wartburg college finally made the grade this week, when students voted to make erection of the signs their project for the year.

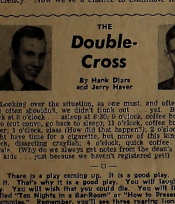
Judging from the large percentage favoring the signs over other possibilities on the ballot, students like the idea. So now we have only to worry about raising the money.

Present plans call for the erection of at least two billboards. But we could easily use four—one on highway 218 and two on highway 3. And we might be able to swing the trick. Instead of the usual two projects, one each semester, we this year have only one altogether. This single campaign, in theory at least, should therefore be twice as big a success.

Not only do we have a large, economy-size project this time, we also have about $300 to spend which was left over from last year's second semester campaign. So the task is possible.

How often have you wondered, when returning by car from vacation, why Wartburg isn't announced at the outskirts of town? Many tourists probably just passing through are completely unaware that the town boasts a college. How are they to know? Most other schools take advantage of such methods of advertising—Wartburg hasn't.

Students, for a long time, have been conscious of the deference. Now we've a chance to eliminate it.



Looking over the situation, as one must and often doesn't, and none other, Joseph Stalin, we didn't think out well, back to Greek at school . . . at least at 8:30 o'clock, coffee hour, 10 o'clock, convo (with coffee, perhaps to come), 11 o'clock, coffee, 12 o'clock, dinner, 1 o'clock, class (How did that happen?), 2 o'clock, coffee hour (Might have time for a cigarette), 3 o'clock, coffee hour, 4 o'clock, coffee, 5 o'clock, coffee, 6 o'clock, coffee, 7 o'clock, coffee, 8 o'clock, coffee, 9 o'clock, coffee, 10 o'clock, coffee, 11 o'clock, coffee, 12 o'clock, coffee, 1 o'clock, coffee, 2 o'clock, coffee, 3 o'clock, coffee

Axmen Begin Uphill Quest For Title At Luther Tonight; UIU Here Tuesday

By Ted Mielenhausen

Ax Bundgaard's defending cage kings plunge into the remainder of their conference schedule tonight at Decorah when they tussle with Luther in the first half of a basketball wrestling twin-bill. Wartburg will match its 2-1 slate against the Norsemen at 8:00 in the evening.

Returning to native maple Tuesday the Knights will host Upper Iowa in a return engagement. Wartburg tipped the Peacocks, 67-54, before Christmas at Fayette.

Wartburg is sending a large corps of fans to Decorah tonight, and the pep band will be there to furnish halftime entertainment, since Luther's janitors are on strike at the school. Stay-at-home fans may hear the game over KWAR at 89.1 on the FM dial.

Playing without the services of overplayed, but top-performance Dick Hoffe for the rest of the season, the Norse, once considered a top contender for IIAC laurels, are now somewhat little chance of making the grade.

Luther started the season off fast with victories over such foes as Bemidji State and North Dakota State, but a series of setbacks in the weeks prior to the return game the Norse took from Iowa State to Wartburg, Iowa Wesleyan Visits. It was the IW game that Hoffe sustained the injury which, they claim, forced him to a spectator role.

Luther now possesses a 3-6 overall record, sagging UIU Tues day night, 75-62, at Fayette.

The Knights, now second in the state with a .900 mark, Tuesday will employ their usual starting five of Bill Moe, Jack Kaminski, Ken Rikwold, Barry Bonhoff and John Kuehl against the Vikings. Bob Adix and newcomer Dale Connett are also set for extensive action. The older Adix, with a 23.4 average, is Iowa Iowa conference scorers with a 28 point-per-game output.

Cagers Rip Grinnell, Sneak Past Central

By Chuck Lutz

Retaining their record to 10-5, Wartburg captured wins two IIAC last weekend. Playing at home Friday evening, the Knights easily rolled over Grinnell, 71-53, and at Central Saturday the Axmen were forced to come from behind for a 45-44 victory.

Against Grinnell Coach Ax Bundgaard's outfit never trailed, racing to an early 50 lead and piling up a 36-24 halftime margin. Late in the final period Wartburg boasted its largest margin of the game at 67-46. The visitors scored three late points as Knights substituted for the final minutes of the rather dull contest.

Wartburg Lucky

It was a different tale at Pella the next evening. Two free tosses by Bill Adix with eight seconds to go gave Wartburg the ball game, but the Knights were plenty fortunate to emerge with a win.

The ball-hefting Dutch forced Wartburg to play their type of game. Central ball-handling the Knights quite badly, especially during the first half, and held Wartburg to its lowest after total of any season—only 50 field attempts.

Both teams were cold, another factor contributing to the meager scoring output. Central hit on 18 of 82 attempts for 22 per cent, while Wartburg shooters had their poorest night of the year—12 of 50 and a dry 24 per cent.

Gift Shooting Wins

Wartburg team could manage more than a three-point spread, end finishing at such proportion were rare. Only superior shooting at the charity line saved the game for Bundgaard's crew, who hit 66 of the cast on gift attempts.

Bill Adix, held to four field goals, sank 23 of 26 free shots to give him 31 points and boost him past the 1,000-point mark for his three-year career in varsity cloth. Bob Adix tied Kaminski with 18 counters.

Wartburg has had a Wartburg basket now in 1,066 game scoring, an mean 44 points.

Knight center Bill Adix pokes at the glittering jewel that gave the sinking point number 1,000 for his three-year career as a Wartburg varsity cager. Coffee-Cup Quarterback

By Bob Snyder

This, Knight fans, is my first sports column. After writing TRUMIER sports off and on for the past three years, I'm now a Waverly sports fan.

I could quibble with Trumier's opinion of the origin of the title of this column, except that at the time of writing the editorial staff was unable to agree on one.

Sports fans were treated to a rare event Monday evening in the Knights gym when the Hungarian Quartet took on Haydn, Haydn and The old master lived to the superior execution of the magnificent Magyars.

Snyder

Although Wartburg athletic teams are enjoying their recently found every-year, and this season the backboard quintet is striving to retain the first conference crown, the Knights have never been known for their ability to generate wide-eyed awe. Wartburg's great has a reputation throughout the conference as being "fine." Perhaps "frightening" is a better word as far as opponents are concerned. Few will quarrel with the famous Wartburg "treatment"—ruing and giving the team an extra hurdle to jump on behalf of the visitors—has had a disheartening effect on Knight foes. This was especially true last year when the Knights polished the conference and won the title.

This year the support has been a half-hearted attempt by sportsmanship who remember the rather-rocking yells of past seasons. Perhaps the student body is a bit overconfident as to chances for success. (A moment of silence while the rest of the conference troughs up its collective sleeve with relish). This attitude can be as disastrous as over-confidence on the part of the team.

The conference chase is far from over. Loras may yet have a week moment, possibly when Wartburg journeys to the Sesquicentennial town. Luther, but the Knights demonstrated Saturday night at Central that they can be counted on to pull out of a tight situation when the chips are down, so we don't have to be too nights sweat. Start rooting back the bleachers and hollering: Yell whistle, cap-bonds, do anything these last three home games to let the Knight boys, the Norskies and IW know that Wartburg wants to keep that trophy!

Behind The Walls

By Shirley Cords

First of all, a big "Welcome-to-the-family" to all you new student dents. All of us hope you enjoy your time spent here. (No one ever spends anything but time here. So if you have money, put it in a safe place, lest the hungry poverty-stricken like the rest of us.)

You know, all week long I've been late for classes because I was busy at my fourth correct rooms. It's really quite confusing, but I'm afraid the latter confusion of tongues and voices will confuse even the world's literature teacher. Anyway, I have found out that I'm not the only one who doesn't know exactly where I don'n know exactly where for cord classes myself.

• • •

Maybe this is just a cold decree, but it is a I want to take advantage of Gov. Alfred Ottenstein's vacation. Hank Dunn was a week late; other last week Jerry Blom held home and miss several days of Mary Jane Wolf. Should make a long story short, I understand that adding these absences together equal one, so I couldn't be interested—I took the cure.

In fresh English this week, we discussed the topic of the famous vivisection case in which William Jennings Bryan and Darrow were lawyers. It seems Joel Martin is a grandson-nephew of William Jennings Bryan. Dorothy Dunn was related to the other lawyer. I will then, if this freshman class isn't confused by produce something great, I don't know.

Random thoughts: sitting on the bleachers hard on back . . . Quite a good attendance at student body meeting Tuesday . . . Wow! we are new faces here in chemistry class . . . Return of many old faces . . . Do you know anyone who is not enrolled? Do you know anyone who you ever notice that the Alpha Phi Gamma sign has three gold stars on it? . . . Why not build benches around the fountain in front of Wartburg hall, heat the water and let it run all winter, especially during the evening . . .

• • •

Get on the bandwagon, be the first in your room to start getting your back scratched! Inquire third floor, Wartburg hall . . . read Cedar Tales . . . read the TRUMPET . . . attend student body meetings . . . Pop Pearson some books published every three months . . . Remember that Billy the Kid used to live in Kansas, and be happy this is the end.

Two Engagements Told

Two more engagements involving Wartburgers were announced this week. Anna Beth Bredthauer from Smith Center, Kan., received her sparkler Jan. 14 from Dwight Rice, Garrison, N. D., junior, while Esther Reichenau, Lake Geneva, Schoolmarm from Manchester, became engaged Jan. 16 to Jim Sorenson, junior from Cedar Falls.

McBride Schedules Organ Recital Mon.

McBride

Marylou McBride, organist from Oelwein, Neb., will present her senior recital in St. Paul's Lutheran church Monday at 7:30 p.m. Miss McBride, who will fulfill requirements in fine arts for the bachelor of music degree with a major in organ, is a student of Dr. E. A. Hordemann. She is also active in Wartburg music groups, being a member of the Wartburg choir and Music Appreciation club.

Bachs "Toccata and Fugue" will open the program, followed by "Improvisation and Fugue" by Anton Bruckner. IV for Organ, and a Mendelssohn creation in three parts, "Andante, Fugue" and "Finale," will follow.

Completing the program will be Guilmant's Scherzo-Sonata in C-Sharp Minor, Op. 84, and Alan Cross "Seaweed" by Borden and Vierck's "Cantilene De Westminster."

Evangelist, Movie On Convo Program

The Rev. E. J. Conrad, of the Lutheran Evangelical University Hour, Minneapolis, Minn., will appear on next Tuesday's convo program. Because his talk is featured as part of the Brotherhood Institute program, convo has been scheduled for an hour later than usual. Students will attend 11 a.m. classes at 10.

On the convo program for next Thursday is a movie from the Institute of Mental Health. The film will be interpreted briefly by the Rev. M. A. Bocka of the sociology department.

Pi Sig Accepts 36 Initiates
